

REGROW TOGETHER

It's as simple as gardeners helping gardeners.

The Regrow Together Project works to connect gardeners all over the country with fellow green thumbs who have been impacted by tornadoes, floods, wildfires and other natural disasters. While other organizations see to the important work of meeting immediate needs for food, shelter and clothing, we see it as our duty to bring hope to our fellow gardeners and help them recapture the joy and fulfillment of the home garden.

The Regrow Together Project is about more than rebuilding, it's about strengthening shattered communities by bringing community gardens into neighborhoods devastated by storm damage. It's about restoring a sense of pride and dignity where they have been stripped away.

The Regrow Together Project is supported by an ever-growing network of volunteers around the country who devote their time and resources to be harbingers of hope when things look bleak.

Nature offers us a chance to grow, but it is up to us to Regrow Together.

For more information, contact:

Michael Nolan
National Coordinator
email: action@regrowtogether.com
phone: 623-377-4748

Visit us on the web: www.RegrowTogether.com

gardeners helping gardeners